Rules to follow

Send marketing messages only to people who agreed to receive them (opt-in), and always make it easy to say STOP.

Utility templates must be about something the customer already did (an order, a booking, a payment). Don't put promotions in them: Meta re-categorises such templates as marketing and can restrict numbers that misuse categories.

Templates must be approved by Meta before you can send them. Replace the {{1}}, {{2}} variables with real data when sending, and keep the wording close to what you submit.

Replies within 24 hours of a customer's message don't need a template.
